BREHM, "THE TAILOR"

HOPEFUL FOR LINCOLN WAY

Retail Merchants in Monthly Meeting Hear that Memorial Highway Project is not a Dead One. Want Other Good Roads.

That the Lincoln Way project is far from being a dead one was declared at Friday night's meeting of the Retail Merchants' Association and active steps were taken to secure favorable action on the proposition during the short session of Congress to open next month.

It was stated at the merchants' meeting that the project is now in better shape than at any time since its inception and that those who are championing the cause of the great memorial highway from Washington to Gettysburg will have less obstacles to overcome in putting through the measure than when they tried formerly.

Among those obstacles was the plan to create a park in Washington as a memorial to Lincoln. This fell through, the park being created but not as a tribute to the martyr president. The fact that a number of the opponents to the Lincoln Way were not re-elected to Congress and will have no special reason for opposing the measure at the short session is another difficulty removed.

That the sentiment in favor of the Lincoln Way is dying out is far from being correct was stated by a member of the Merchants' Association who has returned from a trip through the Middle West where he says everyone is enthusiastic over the plan. It has been inactive for some months but now its champions propose pushing it to a successful issue if it is at all possible.

The secretary of the Merchants' Association was instructed at Friday's meeting to communicate with certain individuals and organizations regarding the matter of making combined efforts to secure favorable legislation and, from indications, their efforts should prove successful.

Other good road propositions were also taken up, principal among them being the renewal of the state wide road bill which was passed at the last session of the state lawmakers but vetoed by Governor Stuart because of lack of sufficient funds for its construction. It is now believed that, with the proper influences brought to bear and co-operation with other towns, the road can be brought through Gettysburg. The idea of having this road connect with the Lincoln Way here has always been popular, affording the finest kind of highway from Philadelphia and Pittsburgh and all other points in Southern Pennsylvania through Gettysburg to Washington.

While "big things" of this kind received the merchants' attention the improvement to the old York pike for several miles out of town received favorable comment. The supervisors of Strasburg township some weeks ago placed cinders over the road for two miles and changed that portion so that it is now in fairly good condition. The proposition of the association taking up the work of having the same material put on farther down was talked over but no action taken.

Other matters of importance to the association were also discussed.

ST. ELMO

Neil Twomey who has dramatized Augusta J. Evans' famous novel "St. Elmo" has provided a play which, if possible, is of even greater interest than the book. In the title roll of St. Elmo, Murray is found one of the most interesting characters in the entire library of fiction and this personage when reproduced in dramatic form becomes of even greater interest. St. Elmo long has been one of the most popular novels with Southern readers and Mr. Twomey's play which comes to the Walter Theatre on Friday, November 18, seems destined to share the success enjoyed by the book.

SHOT RED RABBIT

William P. Devine, proprietor of Hotel O'Bold, spent Friday forenoon gunning in Adams county. He shot six bunnies, one a red rabbit, which he smote on the farm of Henry Spalding in Mt Joy township. It was viewed by a number of persons who regard it as a curiosity. This is the second one of the red variety shot by a local gunner.—Hanover Record Herald.

MAY CONTINUE ORGANIZATION

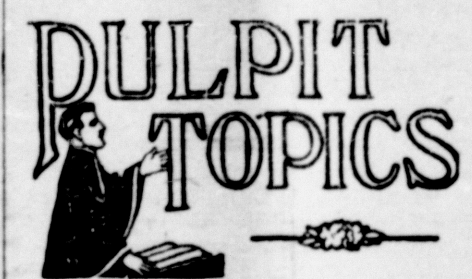

Keystone Party may be Continued but Future Tactics Depend on Attitude of Democracy, Says County Chairman Bucher.

Charles W. Bucher, chairman of the Keystone Party in Adams county, states that up to this time it has not been decided whether or not the party organization shall be continued here. Mr. Bucher said:

"I have considered the matter at some length but do not know whether or not we shall continue the party organization. It may be found necessary for a meeting of those interested to decide this. I know that in many other counties of the state the organizations are being continued. Waynesboro's Keystone party being among the most recent to decide on this.

"It is very evident that the voters of Adams county are awakened to the fact that the independent vote is to be considered. It was demonstrated on Tuesday that they can do something and that they are fore which can make itself felt.

"The future course of the Keystone Party in Adams county will depend, largely, however, on the attitude and future tactics of the Democrats."

WOE TO THE PORKER

The Emmitsburg Chronicle loses its dignity for a few moments and in its editorial columns gives the following:

"All hail to the heavy young hog, the four footed hog's what we mean, no bird ever flew and no fish ever swam. That is up to his notch we mean. Just think of the boon to the family, just think of the joy he brings, when measured in terms of good sausage, of bacon and other good things. What'er would we do, then without him, throughout the long cold winter days, what else could we find that is able to be cooked in so many old ways? You may talk of the ox, and the lamb, of veal—and they all have their place, but hog with boiled hominy's glorious, it leads all the rest in the race. So here's to the hog and the hoglet, and here's to the hominy choice, we'll sing of their virtues and value as long as we have any voice."

Fresh Air in Winter
In winter, it is hard to get fresh air in certain rooms. Some rooms in a house are usually colder than others, and if you open the windows it is hard again to heat the room properly. If you keep the windows closed you don't get fresh air; if you keep them open you cannot quickly reheat the room. The PERFECTION
SMOKELESS
OIL HEATER
Absolutely smokeless and odorless solves the difficulty. You can leave the windows in a room open all day in winter, and when you close them apply a match to a Perfection Oil Heater and heat the room to any temperature you desire in a few minutes.
The Perfection Oil Heater is finished in Japan or nickel. It burns for nine hours. It has a cool handle and a damper top. It has an automatic locking flame spreader, which prevents the wick from being turned high enough to smoke, and is easy to remove and drop back so that the wick can be quickly cleaned. An indicator always shows amount of oil in the font.
The filler-cap does not need to be screwed down. It is put in like a cork in a bottle, and is attached to the font by a chain.
The burner body or gallery cannot become wedged, because of a new device in construction, and consequently, it can always be easily unscrewed in an instant for reworking. The Perfection Oil Heater is strong, durable, well made, built for service, yet light and ornamental.

NEW ANTI-AMERICAN OUTBREAK IN MEXICO
U. S. Consulate at Ciudad Porfioro Diaz Stoned.
El Paso, Tex., Nov. 12.—The anti-American trouble in Mexico, which in the capital and Guadalajara by the presence of large numbers of troops, broke out in the small border town of Ciudad Porfioro Diaz, and the American consulate was stoned.
Luther T. Ellsworth, the consul, was in the consulate when it was stoned and a window was broken. Several homes of American citizens were also stoned, and there is danger of a considerable amount of ill feeling developing, as the shops of the Mexican National railway are located there and the employees are about half Americans and half natives.
Many of the Americans live on the Mexican side of the river, where the company furnishes them cozy homes in the tree shaded streets. Several of these houses have been stoned, together with the American hotel, conducted by the railroad company for its bachelor employees, and several more pretentious American places. Very few Americans are in business in Ciudad Porfioro Diaz, but Americans operate a planing mill and some mines near the town.
No soldiers are stationed there and the police force is small. Consul Ellsworth, who is a Kentuckian, says he can take care of himself if necessary, but the mayor of the town furnished him with a guard.
There was no trouble in Mexico City nor Guadalajara during the day, according to private advices received here.

New York, Nov. 12.—Dr. Lyman Abbott, editor of the Outlook, of which Colonel Roosevelt is contributing editor, gave out his interpretation of the recent election embodied in an editorial to appear in the next issue of that publication.
Dr. Abbott says:
"Popular dissatisfaction with present conditions, especially with the high prices; indignation at the manifest control of the special interests of the tariff revision and still more at the defenses and eulogies of the tariff bill; wrath at the corruption and the hypocritical pretenses disclosed in certain influential Republican circles, coupled with the forgetfulness of the fact that the exposure and the prosecution were furnished by Republicans; a growing conviction that there was an alliance between the special interests and the Republican oligarchy; with the belief that the easiest way to hit at it was by voting with the opposition; indifference in an election which to many voters appeared to be a contest rather between persons than between principles—an impression which a too personal campaigning tended to increase—a general inclination in America to make a change in political control from time to time, an inclination which the political conditions that prevailed in solid states does much to justify; some fears in certain quarters, not less politically effective because wholly undefined, lest the specter of radicalism should work havoc to business interests; the fact that the Republican party was divided between the insurgents and the regulars, while the Democratic party, freed from the traditions of Cleveland and the personality of Bryan, was for the first time in years united—all these causes combined to bring about a political revolution.
Not a Progressive Defeat.
"But I do not believe the election indicates a reaction and revolution. The fact that in every state except Indiana, where there was a definite popular insurgent movement within the Republican party which succeeded, that party succeeded in the election; that in every state except Pennsylvania where there was no such movement within the party or where it failed the Republican party failed in the election; that with the single exception of the senator from Indiana no senator was retired by failure to secure either a renomination or a re-election represents the progressive element in the party; that of the governors elected a decided majority represent the progressive rather than the reactionary element in their respective parties, including such representatives of progressive thought as Woodrow Wilson on the Atlantic coast and Hiram Johnson on the Pacific; that the insurgents are insurgents no longer, but are recognized as leaders in the Republican party—all indicate that the election which is a signal triumph of the Democratic party is not a defeat of progressive principles and does not indicate a decadence of the progressive spirit.
"Nor do I think that the Jack-o-Lantern bugaboo of Mr. Roosevelt's imagined monarchical ambitions cut any considerable figure in the election. The fact that the greatest failing off in the Republican vote was in the state of Pennsylvania where his voice was not once heard in the campaign is significant if not conclusive upon the point.
"The simple fact is that a Democratic triumph was publicly predicted by both Democrats and Republicans eight months ago, and was foreshadowed by the enforced retirement of Messrs. Aldrich and Hale from the senate and by the Maine election in September; Mr. Roosevelt was called in to save the situation; he responded to the call, but could not turn the tide. He did something more important; he heartened the progressives in his own party, carried forward in his own state the work of party purification so well begun by Mr. Hughes and did something to inspire with the spirit of genuine and national democratic progress the party of his political opponents."

NEW ANTI-AMERICAN OUTBREAK IN MEXICO
U. S. Consulate at Ciudad Porfioro Diaz Stoned.
El Paso, Tex., Nov. 12.—The anti-American trouble in Mexico, which in the capital and Guadalajara by the presence of large numbers of troops, broke out in the small border town of Ciudad Porfioro Diaz, and the American consulate was stoned.
Luther T. Ellsworth, the consul, was in the consulate when it was stoned and a window was broken. Several homes of American citizens were also stoned, and there is danger of a considerable amount of ill feeling developing, as the shops of the Mexican National railway are located there and the employees are about half Americans and half natives.
Many of the Americans live on the Mexican side of the river, where the company furnishes them cozy homes in the tree shaded streets. Several of these houses have been stoned, together with the American hotel, conducted by the railroad company for its bachelor employees, and several more pretentious American places. Very few Americans are in business in Ciudad Porfioro Diaz, but Americans operate a planing mill and some mines near the town.
No soldiers are stationed there and the police force is small. Consul Ellsworth, who is a Kentuckian, says he can take care of himself if necessary, but the mayor of the town furnished him with a guard.
There was no trouble in Mexico City nor Guadalajara during the day, according to private advices received here.

Lakewood, N. J., Nov. 12.—A big automobile bearing Kingdon Gould to the railroad station collided with a bicycle ridden by Orville Johnson. Johnson was so badly injured that he died shortly afterwards in a hospital.

$4,000,000,000 IN SAVINGS BANKS
Past Year Was a Banner One For the Thrifty.
Washington, Nov. 12.—If the prosperity of the nation can be reflected in its deposits in savings banks, the year which ended on June 30 must have been a banner one for the American people.
The high cost of living does not appear to have diminished savings, according to figures compiled in the treasury department.
Deposits in the 1759 savings banks during the year increased to more than $4,000,000,000. The average depositor's account was $445.22, just $24.77 above the average of the year before. There are 399,000 more savings bank depositors than there were a year ago and the total of the deposits has swelled $557,000,000 during the year.
The statistics compiled in the treasury department for the second time in the history of American banking include also the reports from 7145 national banks and 15,948 state and private banks. State banking superintendents co-operate with the national bank system to make what is practically a uniform report of banking conditions in the country.
Banking capital employed in the United States increased $50,000,000 during the year. Individual deposits in all the banks increased more than $1,240,000,000 and the aggregate assets increased $1,325,000,000.
The banks, however, are holding about $31,000,000 less in cash than they did in 1909.

AN ANCIENT CUSTOM.

Wassailing of Apple Trees Still Observed in Parts of England.

What is the wassailing of apple trees?

This is an old custom, fast dying out, but still observed in parts of Somerset and Devon. At Wootton-Basset, near Minehead, the ceremony takes place on old Twelfth eve. All assemble at the farmhouse and after a hearty meal form a procession to the nearest orchard, the master in front with a light and men with old guns, blunderbusses and anything that makes a noise in the rear. Plenty of cider is taken and some pieces of toast.

When the orchard is reached a ring
is formed, and the master, in the center,
seizes a branch and sings a verse
beginning "Oh, apple tree, I wassail thee, in hopes that thou wilt blossom."
Then all shout in chorus:

Hattuls, espulas, three bushel bagfuls,
Barn doorfuls, tullet holefuls
And a little heap under the stairs.

Then follow cheers, drinking of healths, shouts of "Now, Tom! now, we wassail thee!" and the placing of the pieces of toast, soaked in cider, among the branches for the robins.—London

MRS. SCHENK
FITS UP CELL

Alleged Poisoner of Husband
Held Without Bail.

MORE ARRESTS TO BE MADE

Suspects Are Expected to Prove How Drug May Have Been Obtained to Poison Millionaire Packer.

Wheeling, W. Va., Nov. 12.—In a room in the tower of the county jail, fitted up with a rocking chair and quilts from her own palatial home,
Mrs. Laura Farnsworth Schenk remains detained, without the privilege of bail, awaiting developments in the illness of her husband, John O.
Schenk, a millionaire pork packer.

The arraignment of Mrs. Schenk on charges that she attempted to poison her husband by putting arsenic in his food and drinking water will be delayed pending the outcome of his sickness.

At the North Wheeling hospital,
where he was taken two weeks ago when suspicion was first aroused, he was reported as slightly improved, but still critically ill. He suffers a high fever and has a pulse of 124. Despite his weakened condition the authorities ventured to tell him of the arrest of Mrs. Schenk, but he is said to have only exclaimed her name and later remarked:

"If all these things are true, she is where she ought to be."

To Make More Arrests.

That further arrests are to be made in the case was admitted by Prosecuting Attorney Handlin and Chief of Police Hastings. It is believed the unnamed suspects are expected to furnish light on the manner in which arsenic
or other drug might have found its way into the Schenk home.

The authorities have the certification of chemists at the Johns Hopkins university and the West Virginia university that arsenic was found in samples of mineral water alleged to have been taken from Mr. Schenk's bedside.
The state laws expressly forbid the sale of poisonous drugs without registration of the purchaser. In this connection it is said physicians will be questioned.

At the jail Mrs. Schenk was questioned anew, but she repeatedly declared her innocence of any attempt upon her husband's life. Attorney Handlin said that Mr. Schenk's illness might be said to date back nearly a year. In January he fell suddenly ill and he took a trip abroad for his health, going alone.

Doctors Agree on Poisoning.

Following his return, much improved, he fell ill again, and Dr. Gregory Ackerman, an eminent German specialist, who was called in, diagnosed the case as poisoning. He was, however, soon afterward discharged from the case.

Dr. Frank Le Moine Hupp, a prominent local physician, was then summoned by relatives, and he returned a similar diagnosis, but his opinion was kept from Mrs. Schenk until the expert analysis had been made and her husband removed to the hospital. Since his removal there she had been refused the privilege of visiting him.

Laura Farnsworth Schenk is the daughter of a poor family in Marietta, O. She came to Wheeling twenty-three years ago and found employment as a domestic. She worked as such in several homes here until, ten years later,
Mr. Schenk, who was then twenty-seven years old and wealthy, took her to his palatial home on Wheeling Island, in the Ohio river, as his wife.
She is a blonde, of ruddy complexion and buxom form.

At the island home she has entertained liberally, and she and her husband were very fond of motoring. Only recently he made her a present of a fine touring car. They have two children, Virginia, aged twelve, and Robert,
aged seven, who have been placed in the care of relatives and who are kept in ignorance of the grave charges against their mother.

Mr. Schenk, who is president of the pork packing firm of F. Schenk & Sons, is a millionaire and is a brother of A. M. Schenk, who recently announced his candidacy for the United States senate against Senator Nathan
B. Scott.

JOHN DALZELL.

Stand-Pat Republican Against Lowering Tariff.

DALZELL IS DEFIANT

Congressman Says Senate Will Keep Tariff as It Is—Censures Roosevelt.

Pittsburg, Nov. 12.—Congressman
John Dalzell, who has been re-elected in the Thirtieth district, made some comments on the Democratic victories
outside of Pennsylvania.

"The election results outside of New York," he said, "probably were due to the dissatisfaction that always follows a revision of the tariff, as well as to discord in the Republican party's ranks, caused by the insurgents in many of the states."

Although the house of representatives will have a Democratic majority, Dalzell says the senate will be able to check any attempt at lowering the tariff.

"The election in New York," said Dalzell, "probably can be considered as a protest against Mr. Roosevelt's gratuitous assumption of leadership in that state, and I believe the vote there was not so much against Mr. Stimson, but voiced a protest against the course
taken by Mr. Roosevelt."

Albert J. Beveridge's defeat in Indiana Mr. Dalzell said he considered as a protest against the tactics adopted by that branch of the party. "It will,"
he said, "have a tendency to cause men elected by a party to abide by the principles and the platform on which they are elected."

PREDICTS LOWER
PRICES FOR FOOD

Big Packer Says Prices Are
on Down Grade.

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 12.—That food prices have reached their climax and now are on the down grade is the belief of meat packers in Kansas City and other packing centers. Dealers in produce and other food supplies say the same thing.

Charles W. Armour, head of the Armour interests in Kansas City, said:
"General food prices are working towards a lower basis. The cereals are getting down. People are going to take advantage of lower prices, and that will have a tendency to relieve the stringency in meat prices, especially pork."

Mr. Armour said many growers of fruit and potatoes last year stored their crops rather than sell at good prices early in the season and finally lost out in the spring. This year, he said, they were profiting by their experiences and are putting their products to consumption at reasonable profits not to take chances on larger or smaller profits.

"All of which has a tendency to lower prices of the things we eat," he added.

Mr. Armour said that if the farmers would put forth their best efforts to raise good hogs, the pork problem
in this country soon would be solved.
Suppose, he argued, that two pounds extra weight is put on every hog sent to the markets. The aggregate increase of weight would be enormous.
If the farmers were to work harder for healthy pork, how much less pork would be condemned by the United States inspectors, he inquired.

AVIATION MEET
HAS DEFICIENCY

Promoters at Baltimore Are
Out $40,000.

WIND HINDERS FLIGHTS

Birdmen Were Tossed Back and Forth
by Gusts of Air—Latham Narrowly Escaped Wrecking Machine.

Baltimore, Nov. 12.—The aviation meet at Halethorpe closed today with a deficit of about $40,000.
Apparently with a disregard for the high perilous character of the wind that swept in treacherous gusts over the aviation field at Halethorpe Archbald Hoxsey started the program by trying for the grand altitude prize.
Latham followed soon after.

Hoxsey ascended by gradual stages to an altitude of 500 feet. It was evident that he was having a desperate struggle with the winds. Hoxsey fought on, but he found his struggle was in vain, and finally returned to a lower level, where he executed some more of the startling maneuvers that thrilled the crowd. He did practically everything but turn a flip-flop, and at times seemed about to try that.

He remained eight minutes and forty-two seconds in the air.
It was announced that the wind was twenty miles an hour. To everybody's surprise the daring aviator turned the head of the plane again heavenward and hurried up as fast as his engine would carry him in the face of the gusts to 105 feet.

In the meantime Latham had started a flight and was skimming along near the ground.
As Latham crossed the starting line
a gust of wind struck the big Antoinette, blowing the machine dangerously close to the grand stand.

Hoxsey landed after being in the air
eight minutes and forty-three seconds.
Rocking and swaying in the high wind, Latham seemed to be in trouble with the monster Antoinette, and a half turn around the track found him still fighting the gusts of wind that seemed to be coming from every direction. Tossed back and forth and seeming to have no control over his machine, Latham continued to career round the course, and on making the turn into the homestretch in front of the grand stand his machine drifted sideways.

by a host of Democratic friends at the Manhattan club.

"Well, how are things down at Oys-

"Oyster Bay?" said Littleton. "They don't call it Oyster Bay any more."
"Well, what do they call it?"
"Blue Point," he replied.

Good Undermuslins at Fair Prices

Good Undermuslins! The adjective is a broad one too often abused. Good undermuslins must be made of the right grade of muslins and cambrics. There must be no skimping. On the contrary amplexness of cut should rule. They must fit well and comfortably. The wormanship must be of a class that will withstand wash and wear. The trimmings must be of good quality and up-to-date patterns.

Quite a few qualifications you will note to be covered by so modest a word as "good." Now you will understand why we say "fair prices."

We can't give you undermuslins of the class as specified above at the price of illy-made shoddy-kind. We refuse to handle the thrown together muslins you have met at any price. But of this you may be sure. Our prices are low, very low for the quality of the goods we offer.

HOW CHRONIC COUGHS

Are Being Cured by Vinol—An Account of One Case.

New Haven, Conn.—"I was troubled with a most persistent chronic cough for a long time and had tried so many remedies and prescriptions without benefit that I was discouraged. I was persuaded by my friends to try Vinol. I must say that I had little confidence, but I made up my mind to give it a fair trial. Before I finished my first bottle of Vinol I commenced to notice an improvement in my general condition. After taking the second bottle, my cough left me, and I must say I never felt better in my life,—all due to the use of Vinol. I can also recommend Vinol to anyone in a run down condition as the best possible remedy." (Name furnished on request.)

It is the combined action of the medicinal elements of the cods' livers aided by the blood making and strength creating properties of tonic iron which makes Vinol so efficient in curing chronic coughs, colds and bronchitis—at the same time building up the weakened, run down system. Vinol contains no oil and tastes good.

Try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not help you. People's Drug Store, C. Wm. Beales, proprietor, Gettysburg, Pa.

A RUSSIAN SPY.

Trepoff's Ruse to Get at the Plans of the Nihilists.

When the famous General Trepoff was only at the beginning of his career Vera Sassulitch was his invaluable assistant.

Trepoff was the detested enemy of the nihilists, and he was very anxious to obtain inside information as to their doings and plans. Suddenly one day in 1878 he was fired at while driving through the streets of St. Petersburg by no other than Vera Sassulitch. She was at once seized by the soldiery and was charged with the attempted murder of Trepoff, being tried in the ordinary manner; but, to the amazement of the public, she was acquitted!

On her release the nihilists gathered about her, desiring to admit such a friend of the people to their closest acquaintance. In this way she was admitted to all their private circles and was made acquainted with their secrets. These she at once communicated to the Russian government. The truth was that the whole business, including the attempt on his life, was faked by Trepoff himself, and it was simply a clever ruse to get from the nihilists what could not be got in any other way. Thereafter Vera Sassulitch played the part of government spy on innumerable occasions.

ANSWERED BACK.

Ready Reply of a Ragged Turk to a Scot In Kilts.

During the troubles at Crete in 1897 the Seaforth highlanders were landed to help to restore order. Their advent, dressed in the familiar kilts, created a great sensation, as the natives, who themselves wear a kind of kilt, had never seen British soldiers in such a costume.

An amusing incident occurred one day when a party of Seaforths were marching through a small, wretched looking village. As usual, the inhabitants turned out to stare at the soldiers, and one of the highlanders with a view to raising a laugh among his comrades shouted out to a group of Turks, "Gae hame, ye dirty blackguards, an' scrub yerseels."

Imagine his astonishment as well as that of the remainder of the highlanders when a ragged and evil looking Turk shouted back in reply, "Go home yourself, Scottish dog, and cover your self up!" It was afterward discovered that this Mohammedan had spent several years in London and so learned the language.—From "Anecdotes of Soldiers in Peace and War," by J. H. Settle.

Oratorical Effects.

I once heard Everett, whose platform oratory was the acme of American art. His language was unimpeachable. But his every word, and not only his every word, but his every gesture, was unmistakably prepared. He seemed to gesticulate not only with his hands, but with his legs. He even planned scenic effects beforehand. Having to deliver a Fourth of July oration, he introduced a veteran of 1812, put him in a conspicuous place and told the old man to rise to him at his entrance into the hall. The old man did as he had been bidden. Everett apostrophized him with "Venerable old man, sit down! It is not for you to rise to us, but for us to rise to you." The veteran said afterward: "Mr. Everett is a strange man. He told me to rise when he came into the hall, and when I did rise he told me to sit down."—From Goldwin Smith's Reminiscences in McClure's.

The Lightning Rod.

Though Franklin will continue to receive the honor that is his due as the inventor of the first practical lightning rod, the study of atmospheric electricity goes back at least to the time of Tullius Hostilius, who perished in an attempt to "draw fire from the sky." A learned priest of the name of Divisch is said to have erected the first lightning conductor in Europe. He set it up at Prezditz, Bohemia, in 1754, and it was 130 feet high. Though the Emperor Stephen and the Empress Maria Theresa publicly proclaimed their confidence in the inventor, a most disastrous drought that afflicted the country a year later was ascribed by the superstitious populace to the newfangled device, and Divisch was compelled to take it down. It is not probable that Franklin was acquainted with Divisch's experiment.

NEW TALES THAT ARE TOLD

Senator Tillman In a London Fog.

Since his visit to Europe Senator Tillman has a fund of new stories which sound properly filtered and possess the true continental flavor. In London he enjoyed a real "pea soup" fog. To get a good view of it he took a ride on top of a bus, which passed slowly along the streets, as though feeling its way. The wintry chill pinched his nose and ears; the fog dripped Niblo-like around him; everything was moist and sticky; sound was deadened; cabs and foot passengers loomed up for a moment like phantoms and disappeared as suddenly.

"If I was a scholar," said the bus driver, emphasizing his final "d," "I'd always talk on this sort of a day."

The senator asked why.

"You know those folks all look like ghosts and ghoustesses to me, and Latin's the proper language to talk to spirits in. It's well known they won't answer if they's spoke to in English."

Beside the senator was a Parsee, wearing a red fez. The driver cast sundry curious glances at him during the frequent pauses necessitated by the fog. When the man got off he said:

"I SUPPOSE HE'S COME HERE TO HAVE A LITTLE REST."

"You're an American, I know, sir, but would you mind telling me where that chap hails from who's wearing that monkey cap?"

"He is a sun worshiper. They are called Parsees."

"Well, well, worships the sun, does he? I suppose he's come 'ere to 'ave a little rest from his prayers." And he glanced expressively at the wet shivering passenger and the gloomy, cheerless slice of street faintly visible through the fog.—Joe Mitchell Chapple in National Magazine.

MANY BLESSINGS TO BE THANKFUL FOR

Odd Complaint of a Completely Pauperized Loafer.

Albert W. Hebbard, New York's charity expert, said at a recent dinner:

"The great danger of charity is its pauperizing effect. This effect must be avoided or the recipients will all become Jack Hanches."

"Jack Hanch, on the score of bad health, never worked, and the pastor of the Methodist church, a man whose heart sometimes outran his head, sent the idler and his family weekly gifts of food and clothing—supported the whole crew, in fact."

"A church visitor after listening to Jack's complaints one day said:

"Yes, of course, you have had bad health—we know that—but one thing at least you ought to be thankful for, and that is our pastor's kindness in sending you all this bread and meat and jelly and blankets, and so on. Don't you think it's good of him to look after you so well?"

"Good of him?" said Jack impatiently. "Why, what's he for?"

Genius and Insanity.

Dr. Percival R. Reeves, the alienist of Denver, discussed at an alienist banquet genius and insanity.

"Genius and insanity are sometimes hard to tell apart," he said. "Take Dostoyevsky, the great Russian novelist. He was surely a little insane. There was a touch of insanity, too, in Swift, in Rossetti and in Poe."

"As a matter of fact," concluded Dr. Reeves, smiling, "we might say that the chief difference between genius and insanity is that the lunatic is always sure of bread and board."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Full Measure.

James Whitcomb Riley was looking over a fence on his farm at a field of rye, says Success, when a neighbor who was driving by, stopped his horse and asked:

"Hallo, Mr. Riley; how's your rye doing?"

"Fine, fine," replied the poet.

"How much do you expect to clear to the acre?"

"Oh, about four gallons," answered Mr. Riley soberly.

Poetic Justice.

"Pa, I've just been reading about poetic justice. What does that mean?"

"Listen, my child, and you shall hear. Once there was a man who swindled me out of a lot of money in an irrigation scheme. Well, he became a victim of poetic justice. I have just heard that he died of water on the brain."—Judge.

Gratitude is the fairest blossom which springs from the soul, and the heart of man knoweth none more fragrant.—Hosae Ballou.
